

Five Ideas

for Making New Children Feel Welcome

1. Learn how to pronounce their beautiful name.

2. Smile your loveliest smile to let them know you want to be their friend.

3. Say "Hello" to them every morning.

4. Share your books and toys and pencils and crayons with them ... and maybe even your sweets!

5. Make them a drawing, just like Adam did for Layla.

No matter where you sit,
you'll always belong
in this classroom.

Discover a beautiful tale of friendship and hope in the new book from the author of The Boy at the Back of the Class, with illustrations by Pippa Curnick.