2026-2027

WELCOME

Dear readers,

Welcome to this year's Hachette Children's Group education list catalogue.

As part of our mission to publish books which provide education, entertainment and escapism, we are pleased to showcase a diverse range of engaging resources which do all three. Our award-winning list covers all the core educational topics.

Highlights include the Positive Minds series, written by Sarah Davis and illustrated by Ana Sanfelippo and covering psychology, mental health, emotions and neurodiversity. Produced in partnership with The British Psychological Society, we're proud to be supporting children with positive, age-appropriate and reassuring looks at the mind and how it works. Our A Curious Cat's Guide to series is perfect for young explorers with big imaginations, endless questions and who are fascinated by how things work. Carron Brown and Ma Pe have created fact filled titles about space, airports, farms and theme parks, packed with things for readers to search and find. Passionate about building life-long connections to the classics, we're excited to launch Classics in Comics, a series designed to make classics accessible with colourful, funny and snappy comic strips. Making science bite-sized is the key premise of our Five Second Science series which guides readers on subjects including chemistry, biology, physics and earth and space, all designed so readers can dip in and out and read in any order.

Franklin Watts and Wayland have been creating books for schools and libraries around the world for over 50 years, working with experts and partners to deliver creative, accessible approaches to learning. I hope you enjoy browsing our broad range and thank you for helping us to raise readers everywhere.

BIG AND SMALL

Comparing the biggest types of transport in the world with the smallest, this book shows some astounding and record-breaking vehicles. Discover the science and technology behind balloons as tall as houses, bicycles shorter than a ruler, huge submarines that rule the ocean and tiny planes named after insects.

- Produced with the Science Museum in London, with consultation from the curator of the transport exhibition
- Includes information about the inventors, drivers and keepers of these famous vehicles
- ‘Tech spec’ panels highlight key facts and figures to enable easy comparison
- Serbian artist, Ivy Trazsi has an MA in interior design and fine arts and is inspired by the colours and textures she’s seen on her travels around the world
